| Date of the Event  | 27.09.2016  |
| Title of the Event   | Guest Lecture on "Role of Women in the Urban Society"     |
| Name, designation and organization of invited guest speakers | Dr. K. Srinivasa Reddy, General physician, Govt. Hospital |

To get awareness and socialize women in our country, Vikas Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences (VIPS) organized a gender sensitization program. The guest speaker Dr. K. Srinivasa Reddy, Gen. Physician from Govt. hospital was invited to the programme; he appreciated the participants and encouraged the students and staff for being enthusiastic for the programme. The speaker concentrated on the importance of women, who are living in the city, in terms of her role and their place in educational administration. In this context knowing and exploring the existing situations of women in urban life who raise the society and ensuring that individuals benefit more from opportunities and rights of life through education as well as giving support for this effect are seen more important. In addition, satisfying the psychological needs of women in the context of urban life makes the individual more happy, autonomous, and motivated. Also educator role is perceived by participants. Around 120 students including boy students participated in this guest lecture. Vice Principal of VIPS felicitated the guest of honor.

Vikas Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences (VIPS) organized an awareness programme on women education on 3rd Oct 2015. Mr. K. Venkateswara Rao, DSP was invited as chief guest for the programme. Education makes us capable of acquiring new skills and being able to communicate with others in a civilized manner. Education is the basic right of everyone and therefore while providing education facilities, we should not discriminate among genders or sexes. The speech given by Mr. K. Venkateswara Rao motivated not only women but also men. The lecture was concluded on the following statement "educating women along with men promotes the idea of equality and democracy". Total of 100 students participated the session along with their parents.
